

The Vienna Institute for International Economic Studies (wiiw) is one of the principal centres for economic research on Central, East and Southeast Europe with more than 35 years of experience. We have expanded our work on European integration issues more generally encompassing the new member states into the European Union, but also developments in the Wider European region and its neighbourhood. We also cover a wide variety of issues in International Economics. Our thematic research covers macroeconomic analysis, international economics, labour markets, regional analysis, industrial organisation. Research projects are commissioned by national and international clients and emerge from applications to research funding agencies. We coordinate and are integrated in a large number of international research networks.

We are looking for an

ECONOMIST

with a concentration on international economics

Major tasks:

- Research in the field of international economics
- Widen our expertise on trade policy and modelling
- Acquisition and execution of research projects

The position is limited to one year in the first instance; can be extended following a satisfactory probationary period

Start: as soon as possible

Requirements:

- PhD in Economics / or just before completion of PhD (good university degree)
- Research experience in international economics
- Interest in applied research
- Good quantitative and econometric skills
- Excellent English (written and oral); knowledge of German is an advantage
- Ability to work in teams

We are paying salaries comparable to universities. Remuneration for the position will be € 36,000 gross annual income or above.

Women are encouraged to apply.

Please send your applications (with cover letter and CV) to wiiw@wiiw.ac.at